Notification Of Risk

Gymnastics, like any other athletic activity involving motion, rotation, and height, involves a risk of injury. You can be injured, and these injuries can be serious. Injuries include broken bones. They are painful. Paralysis or even death can result from landing improperly or on your head or neck.

There is NO LANDING SURFACE that can entirely prevent this from happening. The incidence of injury is very small. However, no coach, no equipment, and no procedure can completely eliminate these risks.

These are risks YOU ASSUME when you practice gymnastics.

This is why it is so important for you to follow a systematic, steady progression of learning, starting with basic skills done consistently and correctly, moving on to more difficult skills only after pre-requisite skills have been mastered. It is very important to practice under the supervision of professionals in a program directed by managers and coaches who have a current United States Gymnastics Federation Safety Certification.

Following the rules (coming to class on time, avoiding horseplay at all times, removing all jewelry and gum prior to participation, keeping hair tied back, and following instructions) will significantly reduce your risks. It is your responsibility to see that you follow these rules.

I certify that I have read and been notified of all risks. I certify that I have discussed all risks with child enrolled at Spectrum for classes.
